6,100

copies, the largest circulation of any daily paper in Vermont outside of Burlington.

Boston now knows that a headache goes with a baseball championship.

His opponents again have found that this Vermont Stone is hard to dislodge.

At least one possible diabolical feature of the attempted assassination of Col. Roosevelt was not resorted to—the bullet was not poisoned. For that oversight let us all be thankful.

Says a Vermont contemporary: "Barre is up against the smallpox situation good and hard. It is a situation of congratulation that the true situation is known and that the authorities have the matter well in hand. It is a trouble that needs immediate and rigorous handling, and that, too, without gloves."

Still most people will prefer to put on gloves before handling the cases—hereafter.

The resignation of Dr. H. D. Holton of Wattleboro as secretary of the state board of health, after long service, finds a good man ready to step into the place. Dr. C. F. Dalton of Burlington, health officer of his home city, is a capable medical man and he should prove to be of great value in prosecuting the work of the state board of health toward the betterment of the entire state.

By voting to work Friday afternoon and resume work, following the Sunday recess, on Monday evening, the Vermont Senate showed that it has regard for the wishes of the public and that it is desirous of being as economical in the conduct of the state's affairs as it would be in private business. There ought to be time enough for the law-makers to go home Friday evening and Saturday, see their families and do a few odd jobs and return in time for a business session Monday evening.

Manager McGraw of the New York National league baseball team has been called a "mucker" ball player, yet he did the manly thing when he smothered his disappointment at losing the world's series and congratulated Manager Stahl of the winning Boston team. For that act we can forgive him for the act immediately following, when he knocked down an obstreperous individual who was jostling him out of sheer meanness toward the defeated party. If we could turn a few more McGraws loose among the unfair fans, it wouldn't be a bad idea.

AN EXAMPLE FOR THE LOWER COURTS.

The Vermont supreme court has completed its October session at Montpelier in good season, thereby giving a fine example to the several county courts of the state. This court settles down to its business promptly, and it attends to the business at hand with marked fidelity; thus making its sessions brief. It is not to be expected that the county courts can complete cases with the same dispatch because it is necessary to take a large amount of testimony in the lower courts, besides listening to the arguments of the attorneys in the cases; yet in the business-like way the higher court attacks its calendar there is incentive for these lower courts to keep their cases moving without break, under penalty of having the cases set down in the docket. Let the county courts follow the example which the supreme court sets for them.

U. V. M. ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Charles D. Watson of St. Albans Chosen President.

The annual business meeting and banquet of the Vermont University Association was held at the Pavilion in Montpelier last evening, with an attendance of about 80. The business meeting preceded the banquet and the following officers were elected: President, Charles D. Watson of St. Albans; vice-presidents, Charles S. Caverly of Rutland and H. H. Blanchard of Springfield; secretary and treasurer, H. C. Shurtleff of Montpelier; executive committee, Guy W. Bailey of Essex Junction, Levi P. Smith of Burlington, W. R. Austin of St. Albans, E. W. Lawrence of Rutland and T. C. Cheney of Morrisville.

Mayor Robert Roberts of Burlington was toastmaster and paid a tribute to President Buckham of the U. V. M. The next speaker was Governor Fletcher, and he was followed by Dr. H. C. Tinkham, dean of the medical department, who called attention to the fact that out of 123 medical schools in the United States, the university of Vermont institution was in class A with the 50 best schools. In the five years 1907-1911, in all the state medical examinations in the country only 3.2 per cent. of Vermont graduates failed. John Hopkins and Harvard each showed a percentage of failures of 2.9, Cornell showed 3.8, Yale 9.1 and Columbia 10.1.

Other speakers during the evening were Prof. J. L. Hill of the college of agriculture and Judge George M. Powers.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

Those who have pledged themselves to buy season tickets for the lecture course given under the auspices of the Village Improvement society and have not yet selected their seats should do so at once. The tickets are on sale at the store of Walter M. Williams. It is hoped that many people who have not purchased season tickets will attend as many as possible of these entertainments. The course contains very attractive numbers and the purchase of tickets calls for a very small outlay of money by the individual. The ladies of the society propose to do more work next summer to improve the looks of our little village than they have done. The first entertainment in the lecture course given by the Village Improvement society will be to-morrow evening in the grange hall by the Moran Sisters Concert company, consisting of Miss Anna L. Moran, violinist, pianist and reader; Miss M. Esther Moran, violinist, vocalist and reader; and Miss Gertrude E. Moran, violinist, vocalist and reader. Their concert program is very attractive, one feature being a six-hand piano number. Beside the piano and violin, the mandolin and the guitar also lend themselves to the talents of these sisters, thus adding to the variety and the charming effects in musical combinations which are the characteristic features in the entertainment they offer. Do not fail to hear them. The Village Improvement society was organized six years ago. The society is not after gain for itself or its members, but its purpose is to acquire money with which to make public improvements and the splendid work will be continued just as far as the means at their disposal will permit. It is therefore the duty and privilege of everyone to do their part in this work by purchasing tickets for these entertainments.

William Henry has finished work in Bethel and is at home for a time. Leon McAllister was operated on for appendicitis at Mary Fletcher hospital, Burlington, the 14th, and was comfortable at last accounts.

Eve's F. Walker is ill with congestion of the liver and is confined to his bed. H. R. Miller, Jr., of White River Junction was a business visitor in town yesterday.

The boy scouts have resumed their regular weekly meetings on Mondays at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Cass of Haverhill, N. H., are visiting at the Congregational parsonage. Mrs. Irons has lately returned from a week's stay with friends in New Hampshire.

Rural Carrier Charles U. Sivright of route No. 2 resumed his trip to-day after a vacation of two weeks, during which time Substitute A. L. Cowles has taken his place.

Mrs. Margaret Dow and Miss Myrtle Dow are visiting relatives in Salem, Mass.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning at the Congregational church is "Gideon."

William O. Martin has moved his jewelry repair tools back from Barre and will be at home for a time and will do repair work for those that wish.

A case of smallpox is reported in the family of Frank E. Bacon of Mill village. This is the first one in town so far as known.

CORRECTS "EVERYBODY'S"

Lieut. P. C. J. Cheney Writes That General Charles H. Tompkins Is Alive.

Lieut. P. C. J. Cheney of Washington writes to correct a statement in "Everybody's Cyclopaedia," vol. 5, which reports General Charles H. Tompkins as dead. Lieut. Cheney says that General Tompkins "was our colonel of the First Vermont Cavalry, in the year 1862, leading us through our battles at Strasburg, Gettysburg, Middleburg, Winchester, Front Royal, Waterloo, Culpeper, Orange, Court House and 2nd Battle of Bull Run" and he adds: "We regretted very much when we lost him as a commander."

General Tompkins' son, Capt. Frank Tompkins, is commandant at Norwich university, Northfield, and he writes Lieut. Cheney as follows:

"Northfield, October 15, 1912.
"Washington,
"Vermont.

"My dear Mr. Cheney:
"Your very interesting pamphlet was received by me yesterday, and I have read it with considerable interest, especially that part which speaks of my father, Gen. Charles H. Tompkins.

"I have often heard my father speak of you in connection with the First Vermont Cavalry. The old gentleman was well and hearty; he lives in Washington, D. C., 1425 Twenty-first street, N. W. He would undoubtedly be very glad to receive one of your little books.

"With many thanks for giving me the opportunity to read this pamphlet, believe me,

"Most cordially yours,
"Frank Tompkins,
"Capt. 11th Cav."

"Everybody's Cyclopaedia" has the following about General Tompkins:

"Tompkins, Charles H., an American military officer; born in Fort Monroe, Va., Sept. 12, 1830. Studied at the United States military academy; began his active military career in 1856. He was promoted first lieutenant in the Second United States Cavalry in April, 1861. During his service in the defense of Washington he distinguished himself on the night of May 31, 1861, by making one of the first cavalry reconnaissances of the war. At the head of the Fifth Cavalry, he charged through Fairfax Court House, Va., three times and captured two outposts. In recognition of his gallantry during the war, he was brevetted brigadier-general in March, 1863. He was chief quartermaster of the principal division of the army in 1865-1868; was then made chief quartermaster of the division of the Atlantic; and was retired with rank of colonel Sept. 12, 1894. Died 1895."

A Novel Dumping-Car.

On a side track at the local yards of the Montpelier & Wells River railroad sets a Western air dump car, which is the property of the Boutwell, Milne & Varnum company. The car is attracting a great deal of interest because of its size. The car is one of the latest models of dumping cars manufactured by the Western Wheeled Scraper company of Aurora, Ill. Its size being that of an ordinary railroad car. The capacity of the car is 100,000 pounds and weighs 55,000 pounds. The car is composed of solid steel and is propelled by air, capable of throwing its contents to either side. The car will be shipped immediately to the quarries of the company in Graniteville and placed at the disposal of the company's operations.

Chemical analysis will show that MILK is one of the cheapest articles of food in the market. Our pasteurized Sweet Skimmed Milk or Buttermilk has two-thirds as much nourishment as whole Sweet Milk, so all you can use of these goods in your cooking or otherwise furnishes good, wholesome, muscle-making nourishment at less than one-half what it costs in many other kinds of food you are buying. Eggs, while a little more expensive, are a very prominent article of food, and we are in position to give you good value for your money. While we wouldn't want to be called a liar if you found one that was not quite as fresh as it ought to be, we are candling all our Eggs with an electrical device and it is very seldom that one not usable gets by our light.
